Alan Edelman to train BD AI programmers

Machine learning expert Alan Edelman will mentor Bangla-deshi young programmers to develop new technologies through Artificial Intelligence (AI). Alan Stuart Edelman, father of the programming language Julia, is a Professor of Applied Mathematics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the US. Edelman made a keynote presentation at a session styled "AI and Machine Learning" at BASIS SoftExpo at Bangabandhu International Conference Centre here, said a press release issued recently. Prof Edelman said, "The dependency on Google is not good for the young developers.

They should focus on developing service and products from own innovations. Julia will support the developers to implement their innovation in programming." Prof Edelman focused on comparative feature between Google's Tensor Flow and Ju.
